

Human Rights Policy

A modern office environment with cubicles, desks, and workers. The office has large windows and a clean, professional look. A person is visible working at a desk in the foreground, and another person is standing in the background. The office is well-lit and organized.

BATHCO is committed to the eradication of slavery, forced labour, and human trafficking in all its forms. We recognize that slavery and human trafficking are global issues, and we take seriously our responsibility to ensure that our business and supply chains are free from such practices.

BATHCO

To this end, we have adopted the following policy.

Prohibition of Slavery and Human Trafficking

We prohibit the use of slavery and human trafficking in all our operations and supply chains. We will not knowingly do business with any supplier or partner that engages in such practices.

Due Diligence

Where practicable, we will conduct due diligence on all our suppliers and partners to ensure that they comply with our anti-slavery policy. This will include a risk assessment of our supply chains, and the implementation of measures to address any identified risks.

Training and Awareness

We will provide training and awareness-raising activities to our employees and partners to ensure that they understand our anti-slavery policy and the importance of eradicating slavery and human trafficking.

Reporting and Monitoring

We will establish procedures for reporting any instances of slavery or human trafficking in our operations or supply chains, and we will monitor compliance with our anti-slavery policy on an ongoing basis.

Communication and Transparency

Where practicable, we will communicate our anti-slavery policy to all our stakeholders, including customers, suppliers, and partners. When appropriate, we will also publish an annual statement detailing our efforts to combat slavery and human trafficking.

We recognize that eradicating slavery and human trafficking is an ongoing effort, and we are committed to continuously improving our policies and practices to ensure that we are doing everything possible to combat these practices.
